*"Imagine the beauty of it--
"That moment when the soul of a loved one returns to the stars;
"Each voice whispering,
"I remember you!"*

*With deepest sympathy for your loss,
and in joyful celebration of Heaven's gain...*

“ James was sweet and kind but he was quick to speak up and stand up when he saw something that was not right. If there were toys or treats or anything to be shared among the kids, he wanted everyone to get a fair share, even the smaller kids. And he always always ALWAYS looked out for his little sister. If you gave him a cookie, a dollar, anything, he made sure there was one for Ilana too. He was playful and he was funny, but he could be earnest and contemplative too, and seem far older than his years.

“ The one thing that James always did was to tatttle on his aunts and uncles when they did not do what they were told by their mother (his grandmother). They finally realized they had better do what they were told to do when he was around! We love you James, you will forever be in our hearts. Love, Joe & Stephanie
